

HIP HIP FROSÉ

THE CO-OP IS OPEN. AND OTHER HUB HAPPENINGS.

The Hub is living up to its name. Bringing people together for new services, restaurants ... and did we mention frosé? Charleston's favorite for its 60 (!) rotating frosé flavors, The Co-Op opened on July 20th to customers literally lined up around the block, starting at 8am. (Seriously, 8am ... but that's more about their always-a-dollar drip coffee.) Here's what else is new at The Hub: LPC Kitchen, serving up authentic Neapolitan pizza and pasta. Lowcountry Yoga, a boutique studio that brings lowcountry spirit to yoga classes ranging from restful to challenging. And KidStrong, child development that strengthens your kiddo's brain, body and character. So what's coming this fall? The Pickle Bar, the perfect trifecta of pickleball-food-cocktails you didn't know you needed.

SNOWBIRDS, WE'RE 55+ APPROVED.

It's almost snowbird season in Charleston and to that we say welcome, y'all. Nexton is beloved for 55+ living, by snowbirds and 365ers alike. After all, Charleston is close and downtown Summerville is even closer — two charming destinations ideal for foodies, history buffs and art lovers. Beaches are a short drive away too. No daytrips required though, given Nexton's own long list of amenities, clubs, shops, eateries and more. Check out our just-for-you neighborhoods: Del Webb 55+ and new Hammock Walk by Ashton Woods, featuring ranch-style villas, pickleball (of course) and nature galore.
