

GOOD TIMES, GOOD FRIENDS. THIS IS NEXTON.

Bring on the fun. That's what the Vitale family hoped for — and found — when they moved to Nexton. For these Connecticut transplants, Nexton provided more than a beautiful home. It included kids to play with. Fun things to do. (Maybe especially pickleball, mentioned twice in their video.) And sharing meals and community events with friendly neighbors. Here at Nexton, Carl Vitale says, "We feel like we have the highest quality of life we've ever had."

HARRIS TEETER OPENING TOMORROW

Grab a cart. Preferably a big one. There's 76,000 square feet of high-quality products to shop at Nexton's first official grocery store. (And if that doesn't say "fun," what does?) Harris Teeter brings to Nexton renowned variety, customer service and best of all, proximity. Because there's always that one thing you forgot to pick up.

LET'S EAT

MAIL WITH ATTITUDE

When is a mail kiosk more than a mail kiosk? When it's at Nexton. Like most things around here, mail kiosks create an opportunity for fun and connection. At most mail kiosks you'll find a mood-lifting mural — a creative backdrop for neighborly chit chat as you pick up your letters (remember those?) and drop off your kiddos (kiosks double as school bus stops, too). We heart art.

WOULD YOU LIKE A CASITA WITH THAT?

Or maybe a cabana, gazebo or potter's shed? In this video, you can explore all the delightful options by New Leaf Builders, whose unique homes wrap around private, enclosed courtyards. Perfect for garden parties and burgers by the splash pool (yet another option). So freshen up your party playlist. Good times are just ahead with your newfound friends at Nexton.
